AZ teachers can win own tech classroom

A Scottsdale-based company is offering Arizona K-12 teachers the chance to win a technologically-updated classroom and training worth thousands of dollars.

CCS Presentation Systems will accept submissions through April 30.

The company is looking for proposals that best integrate education technology to improve teaching, while introducing new programs.

Applications can be found online at www.ccsprojects.com/az/grantwriting.cfm

The winner will be announced in May.

CCS specializes in the integration of audiovisual equipment into instructional settings, whether in schools or corporations.
